Bitcoin-based earnings subject to taxation, clarifies CBDT Chairman

- Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) Chairman Sushil Chandra on Tuesday clarified that money earned from bitcoins would be applicable for taxation.
- "Those who have earned from Bitcoins would have to give tax. Their source of income would also be asked, and if they don't pay tax, action will be taken against them," Chandra told reporters here.
- Amid the rising popularity of Bitcoins, the Government has time and again, reiterated that such kind of virtual currencies will not be considered legal tender in India.
- Recently, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley in his Budget speech stressed that the Government does not consider cryptocurrencies as legal tender, and will take measures to eradicate use of cryptocurrencies for illegitimate activities.
- "Cryptocurrency investors in India have to bear in mind that the government doesn't consider them legal tender," Jaitley announced in his Budget speech.
- He further emphasised that the government will look to eradicate their usage for illegitimate activities, nothing about investing in them.

Govt to launch KUSUM scheme to promote solar farming among farmers

- Union government announced a fund of Rs 1.4 lakh-crore for the ambitious Kisan Urja Suraksha evam Utthaan Mahaabhiyan (KUSUM) scheme. The scheme will work towards promoting solar power production a.k.a. solar farming up to 28,250 MW to help farmers.
- The Union Budget 2018-2019 has allotted Rs 48,000 crore to lead the scheme for a period of ten years.

- KUSUM scheme will provide 1.75 million off-grid agricultural solar pumps
- It will build 10,000 MW solar plants on barren lands for solar farming
- Farmers will be given a chance to earn extra income if they help produce additional power by setting up solar power project on their barren land
- The energy produced by the farmers on their barren land will be bought by the state electricity distribution companies (DISCOMS)
- The scheme is likely to decrease the consumption of diesel in the agriculture sector (used in pumps)
- KUSUM scheme also includes the distribution of 17.5 lakh solar pumps for which 60 per cent subsidy will be given to the farmers.

Union Government announces few clarifications regarding Mukhya Mantri Anila Bhagya Yojana

- The Union Ministry of Petroleum & Natural Gas on February 6, 2018 clarified that Ministry had advised Karnataka Government to implement MMABY as a complementary Scheme of PMUY and follow the procedure of implementing the Scheme through Oil Marketing Companies (OMCs) only, which is being followed in Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Assam, Punjab and Haryana.
- The clarification came after the Ministry saw the advertisement of the Government of Karnataka in Times of India (Bengaluru Edition) wherein it has been published that Mukhya Mantri Anila Bhagya Yojane (MMABY) is being implemented in collaboration with Government of India.
- The Ministry, from time to time, has requested the State Government to implement the Scheme through OMCs only. Instead of following the same, the Karnataka Government is unilaterally going ahead with implementation of MMABY directly through distributors' network without involving OMCs. This system may lead to large scale chaos in the field.
